

Meetings - who needs them?

In today's corporate world, the answer is just about everyone – but not always in the same way. Your meeting might involve a couple of people in a room or it could require five people in five continents and several time zones. That used to be tricky – an international juggling game of personal diaries, available meeting space and equipment. But not anymore, thanks to Rendezvous, the leading scheduling software used worldwide by busy law firms, businesses, healthcare facilities and conference centers.

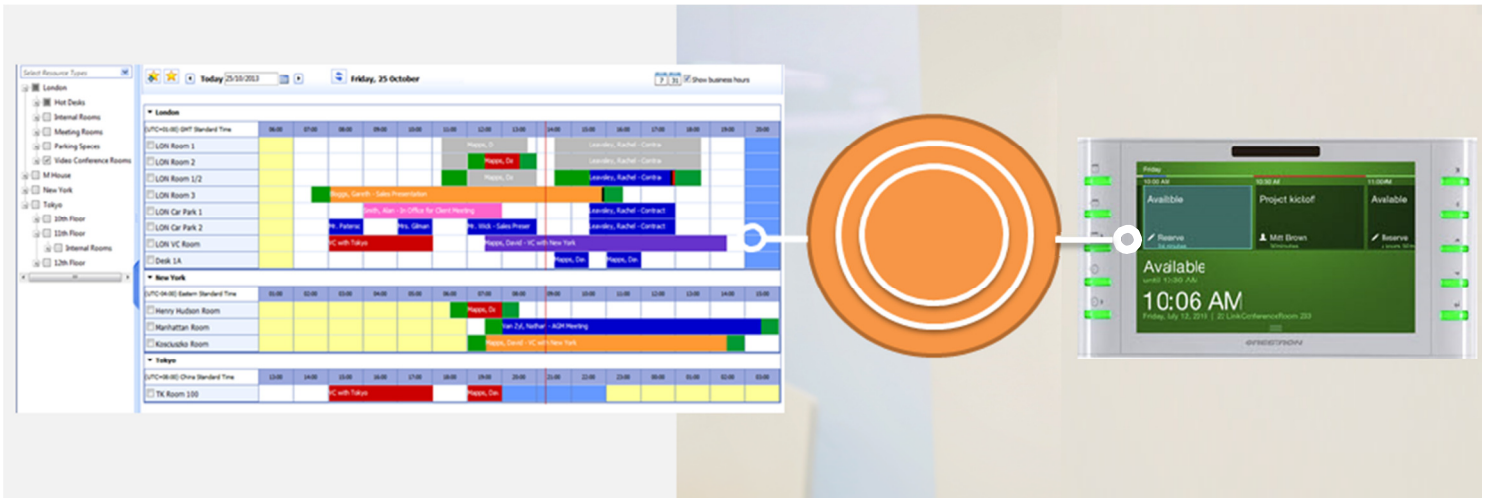

Today Rendezvous and Crestron does it all for you!

- Book rooms, desks and all vended services such as catering, AV, IT and VC (through Rendezvous)
- Provide check in / check out and minimise “no shows” (through Crestron Fusion)
- Improve connectivity and the meeting experience
- Extend the meeting from within the meeting room itself.
