Triamese Cable for TPS/TPMC Panels: TPS/TPMC-CBL-T3/6/9

Description

Features & Functions

The TPS/TPMC-CBL-T3/6/9 Triamese (three shielded cables joined together) cables are optional cables designed for Crestron's Isys® and Isys i/O® series of touchpanels. For specific models, refer to "Compatible Touchpanels" on page 2. The Triamese cable is used to connect Cresnet®, CAT5 audio, and CAT5 video wiring from a TPMC-CH-IMC to the touchpanel's NET, VIDEO, and AUDIO ports. The cable is available in 3-, 6-, and 9-foot lengths in either black or white.

Supplied with the touchpanel is a TPMC-CH-IMC Interface Module that serves as an interface between the touchpanel, the audio and video sources, and/or the Crestron remote control system (herein referred to as the Cresnet system). Also supplied with the touchpanel is a 15-foot (4.57 meter) Triamese cable for the NET, VIDEO, and AUDIO connections. The TPS/TPMC-CBL-T3/6/9 cable is available to provide optional lengths plus the convenience of three cables joined together.

NOTE: For information about the TPMC-CH-IMC, refer to the latest version of the TPMC-CH-IMC Operations Guide (Doc. 6345) which is available from the Crestron website (www.crestron.com/manuals).
